

Using 'whose'

1. Write T (True) or F (False) according to the text you read.
 - a. ____ The writer likes fairy tales because they are very realistic.
 - b. ____ In her opinion, reading fairy tales today is great because they show different cultures.
 - c. ____ According to the text, parents and teachers can talk to children about multicultural fairy tales to have richer conversations.

2. Use the prompts to write sentences using the relative pronoun 'whose'.

Example:

'La Princesa and the Pea'
The art was inspired by the culture of Peru.	It was written by Susan Middleton Elya.
'La Princesa and the Pea', whose art was inspired by the culture of Peru, was written by Susan Middleton Elya.

'Little Red and the Very Hungry Lion'
The setting is an African savanna.	It was written by Alex T. Smith.

'The Korean Cinderella'
The story is about a girl named Pear Blossom.	It was illustrated by Ruth Heller.

'Rubia and the Three Osos'
The story is a Latino version of 'Goldilocks and the Three Bears'	It has a new end.

3. Complete the table about a book or an author you like. Then, write about it using 'whose'.