

DISCUSS:

- How many viral posts do you click on each week? And how many do you share?
- How often do you check to make sure what you are sharing is real?
- What sources of news do you usually trust?
- In a world where news can be reported by anyone with a cell phone, how do you decide what you can trust?
- How important is it to follow the news?
- What kind of news stories interest you the most?
- How has technology changed the way we consume news?
- Should news be more entertaining or informative?

DISCUSS:

- How many viral posts do you click on each week? And how many do you share?
- How often do you check to make sure what you are sharing is real?
- What sources of news do you usually trust?
- In a world where news can be reported by anyone with a cell phone, how do you decide what you can trust?
- How important is it to follow the news?
- What kind of news stories interest you the most?
- How has technology changed the way we consume news?
- Should news be more entertaining or informative?

DISCUSS:

- How many viral posts do you click on each week? And how many do you share?
- How often do you check to make sure what you are sharing is real?
- What sources of news do you usually trust?
- In a world where news can be reported by anyone with a cell phone, how do you decide what you can trust?
- How important is it to follow the news?
- What kind of news stories interest you the most?
- How has technology changed the way we consume news?
- Should news be more entertaining or informative?